

I have listened to KLOVE Christian radio station for years and currently help support them with contributions. Their impact on every community in which they are heard is positive. Local rescue missions are supported and the public hears about them and other causes. There are no ads but there is alot of information, for those who want to help or those needing help. Please do not let the low power FM stations take precedent over stations like KLOVE. You would be hurting so many people!